ИЛ' Abbon's Badget,-The first number of the new series of this interesting papier bas just reached us. Alt makes its appearance in a new form, and in a novel garb and attractive character, with a bequitful and unique title page, and its pages filled with wit fun and fancy. It le, in consequence, a most attractive und excellent sheet, equal in interest and general merit to its foreign rival, and deserving the approbation which should attach to national spirit and liberal expenditure. We are sure that the popular verdiet will be in its favor as it richly deserves. We are pleased to learn that the publisher has been eminently successful with the Budget ; and, certainly, if extraordinary aptitude in accommodating the public taste-if liberal dispensation of means to accomplish well considered ends-if the employment of the best talent, if continual walchfulness to avail himself of whatever is new or striking; and in a word, a resolute determination not to be out-done in any way, by anybody, entitle him to success, he eminently deserves it. ...

The steamer State of Maine or her last trip to New York, in conse quence of the weather being so thick, run on Malincock point, Wednesday morning, Capt Brown the Pilot and Mr. Chuse the clerk went immediately to New York, by land. A steamboat was sent to her assistance and she got off yesterday morning at 7 o'clock,

We are indebted to R. B. Kinsley, Esq., for telegraph despatches from Fall River.

Our thanks are due to Hon, George G. King, Hon. William H. Sewand and Hon. Charles Sumner, for pub; lie documents and copies of speeches.

No TREATY BETWEEN FRANCE AND ENGLAND IN BEHALF OF SPAIN. - Mr. Webster, in reply to the resolution of Mr. Mende, of Va., says that no treaty has been made between France and England, guaranteeing to Spain the prothere le Cuba against any invasion such treaty has been entered into, at the state Department.

. REVEREND TRIFLER .- Among the s of diagneting scandal developed by Forcest trial, the following note adseed to Mrs. Forrest by the Rev. E. Magoon, shows the vulgarity of the association" in which the immeralities were engendered:

"Dear "Kate"-Your kind invitation to "eatin," at three P. M., came to hand at cleven this morning. , I forthwith posted to your tabernacie, and now here I is, to say that it is unpossible utterly to be with you are as desired.

At the hour you name the dead are to be; buried, and at almost every other hour for many days and nights to come, I shall be up to my eyes in work. Last week I was in four great congregation in Providence, Boston, and Salem .-Next week-but no matter. Wife sends lots of love. Yours, pertinaciously, MAGOON."

The low levity of this impertinet epistle, written just before the solemn hour in which " the dead are to be buried." is shockingly disgusting. A becoming kence of womanly and wifely dignity would have prompted Mrs. Forrest to hand the silly and insulting note to her husband, with the request that he nould wall the Rev. Parson's nose a the nation convenient opportunity.-N V. Mirror.

The First Appearance of Lola Montes. The Broadway Theatre was crammed last night to witness the performances of this remarkable woman. She made a very pretty little speech to the audience. at the conclusion of which she was tremendously cheered. It is pretty evident that Lola will continue to draw full houses for some time. Her fascinating eye and attractive smile had much more effect on the audience then her dancing ; the latter not being better, if as good as that of some score of lemale dancers now in our city. It was the general opinion of the audience that Lola's eyes and her cratery were the grand cause of her popularity. She is a pretty speaker, and if her intellect and oratorical powere were resociated with an unexceptionable character for virtue, she would compare well with the greatest women of the age -N. Y. Times.

Miss Frederica Bremer arrived at her home in Stockholm, Nov. 22. It is stated that her elder eister had just died, and that she arrived in season to be present at her luneral. The descared sister, it is added, was possessed of a large

-The following là Mr. Clay's letter to the Kentucky Legislature, resigning his seat in the U. S. Senste : WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. When you aid the honor to confer on me the appointment of a Senator from Kentucky, which I now hold, in occupying it I did not intend or expect to serve the entire term of six years. I had previously retired, finally, as I supposed, from that body ; but out of the territorial acquisition resulting from the war with Mexico, momentous questions crose, seriously menacing the harmony and peace, if not the integrity of the Union. I felt it my duty to return again to the Senate, and to contribute my humble aid to an amicable settlement of those questions, and to avert the calamities with which we were threatened .--Such a setticinent was attempted during the last Congress, and is now in progress of execution, and I trust and hope it will accomplish the good that could be expected from any great measure adopted to heal national divisions and animosities, which have arisen to such an alarming height on the approach of the present Congress. It was with much Yel Europe is, next after the United hesitation proceeding parily from my feeble state of health, that I concluded to return for the last time to the Senate, but I had no thoughts of ever taking again a seat in that body after the close of the present session. This having come to conclusion, I consider it incumbent on me to place it in the power of the General Assembly to appoint my auccessor during its present session. I do therefore hereby resign the office of a Kentucky. This my resignation to take effect on the first Monday in September 1852. In dissolving this official relation in which I stand to the General Assembly, I cannot forbear renewing an expression of my great obligations and my profound gratitude, for the many distin-

JUSTICE IN HOLLAND. An English gentleman travelting in Holland, gives a curious account of the administration of justice in that country under certain circumstances. The facts, as related, may appear incredible to our readers, capecially to those who have visited Holland, but the story is nevertheless an a trekschult, the skipper of which being a very great rogue, extorted from himi for his passage much more than he had a right to claim. The traveller expostulated with the fellow in vain-he grew rude. The travaller persisted—the fellow grow more abusive. At length he told the skipper, that he would, immediately on landing, go to the proper tribunal, and get redress from the judge. The skipper snapped his tarry fingers in his face. The Englishman paid the demand, and, on landing, went to the legal officer to know when the court of nine next morning. Having no doubt at the next centenary. of ample redress, he did not choose to put the skipper on his guard by mentioning his intention. Next morning he went to court, and began to tell his stery to the judge, who sat with his broad brimmed hat on in great state. The Englishman fancied that he had seen the man before. Nor was he long in doubt. For before he had half-finished, the judge, in a roar, but which he immediately recognized, for it was the identical skipper, who sat on the bench, decided against him with full costs, and ordered him out of court! The Englishman, however, said that he would apreal, and away he went to an advocate regularly on. But all his stoicism for- to settle and cultivate the sanie. sook him when he perceived that the very same skipper and judge was to defide the appeal, who had decided the cause; so that the learned skipper first cheated, and then sent him about his business, with two sets of costs to console him."

An Olo Salt.-Capiain Tucker, an old East Indiaman, often elicited remarks from his acquaintance on his appearance, as he invariably kept his "nauticuls" on in port as well as at sea. On one occasion, while in Bombay a friend, eyeing his sea-jacket, and sou' wester, said-

"Gaptain, why don't you spruce up while in port 3"

"Oh!" said the captain, "nobody knows me here."

The ship in due course of time arrived in Buston harbor, and the captain sauntering up the whatf in his old duds, was met by a friend who seed him the same quention.

"Oh, my dear fellow," was the reply: "everybody knows me here."

The sum of Christianity or morjust no they deserve.

Mr. Clay's Letter of Resignation. Population of Europe. - When Gibbon wrote his great history, less than a century ago, he estimated the population of Europe at one hundred and seven millions. It is now computed not to be less than two hundred and thirty millions. This remarkable increase, too, has been in the face of some of the most desoluting wars that ever ravaged that continent, an well as in despite of a steadily increasing emigration, which has been going on for the last thirty years. It can only be explained, by the vast strides made in physical civilization during the last three generations, and the consequent prolongation of human life, through better aunitary regulations, increased comforts and improvements in medical science. Of this two hundred and thirty middons, nearly one half, belong to the Church of Rome while fifty two millions are Professions, fifty-four millions adherents of the Greek Church, and about six millions Mohamedans. Of all this vast nonulation there caused the reclined and stellar the reclined and sortes. Their huzzahis from the New World would go over the Ne edans. Of all this vast population there courage the nation to imitate our silus are not seventy millions who are free, even in name, while not a single million is free, in the enlarged sense in which an American citizen employs that term. States, the territory of all the globe, advanced in political knowledge. Alas ! for our race.-Phila. Bulletin.

FROZEN TO DEATH .- A party of seventeen gentlemen started during the snow storm of Tuesday, from Buildle to Cincinnati, and intermediate points. B. fore reaching Erie it was discovered that one of the passengers was about closing his eyes in the sleep of death. He was Senator of the U. S. from the State of taken into a tayern on the road, and by proper restoratives brought to consciousness. On inviting the driver of the eleigh into the house, he made no reply, and upon examination; he was found to be stone dead, having been frozen by the extreme cold.

DEATH OF THE FOUNDER OF THE WA-ren Core.—Priesenitz, the celebrated founder of Hydropathy, died at Grafen-burg, on the 26th of November, at the age of 52. In the morning of that day, Priesenitz was up and stirring at an ear-ly hour, but complained of the cold, and had wood brought in to make a large fire. His friends had for some time be-lieved him to be suffering from dropsy lieved him to be suffering from dropsy of the cheet, and at their earnest entreaty he consented to take a little medicine, exclaiming all the while, "it's of no use" He would see no physician, but remained to the last true to his profession. About four o'clock in the afternoon of the 26th he asked to be carried to bed, and upon being laid down, ex-A CESTERNIAL PARTY PARTY -- ON last Thanksgiving day most of the wes cendants of Captain Lawrence, one of the first settlers of the town of Canada, assembled together in the house built by him just 100 years, ago. The steppingstone at the door bears the date of his arrival, with the names of his family and the date of the building inscribed upon it. The house it is said is vet substantial, and likely to stand the test of another century. Seventy-five of the family met. They read family prayers, compared family records, and inserted justice would sit. He was answered, at their names on record, to be presented

Mr. Jipson I" she screamed out, " there's a man under the bed !" "Is there !" coolly drawled her husband-" Well my dear, I am glad you have found him at last. You have been looking for him these twenty years."

THE UNION SOLE.-Mrs. Partington THE UNION SOLE.—ATTE. Fartingion on being told that Mr. Ritche had sold, "The Union," exclaimed: "Alas I dias! I feared he would do something awful when I heard that Congress had dejected the hill to edentify him! I wonder if he sold the people with it, and if I have got to become a nigger slave? If so, I shall emulate to the south, where they know how to treat the poor critters." And Mrs. Parington sighed deeply and said no most deeply and said no more.

A scaman, who had escaped one of the recent shipwreeks, was asked by a lady how he felt when the waves cultivis, to know how to value things dashed over him. "Wet, Madam, quite balls of the contending parties flew over wei."

RICHES.- A young man once expressed his surprise to Dr. Franklin that the possession of great riches should ever be stranded with undue solicitude, and instanced a merchant, who although in possession of unbounded wealth, was as busy, and much more anxious, than the most industrious clerk in his counting house. The Doctor in reply, took an apple from a fruit banket, and presented it to'a child in the room, who could scarcely grasp it in his hand. He then gave him a second, which filled the oththat also. The child, after many ineffectual attempts to hold the three apples, dropped the last on the carpet, and burst into tears, 'See,' said Franklin, there is a little man with more riches than he can enjoy?

JENNY LIND HOT ALK COOKING RANGE.

HOT AIR COOKING RANGE.

In presenting this Range to the public, the reducerible would call attention to its merits. He has been well convinced from his own observations that the public are in want of a, Range with rich improvements as will render it more perfect of all purposes of domestic utility and economy, than any now in the market. In the article which he now offers to the public for examination, the has (if he can place any reliance upon the assurance of experienced dealers in Ranges and Stores, and his own experience and observations) here accreefally beyond his most sangular expectations. The Orem is so constructed as to secree the certainty of theoroph hashing the hottom of all saticks proper to be cooked in an oven. It is unnecessary to say to those who have used ranges, that no previous pattern has been free from defect in this particular.
